BRIEFLETS.

Who will be City Marshal?
—Mrs. Chester Bailey is reported as very ill.

—E. S. Barrows, of Chicago, was seen upon our streets to-day.

—Dr. Loomis is having full plate glass put in his office windows. Let there be light.

—Will Everson, J. B. Doe, Jr., and others formed a merry fishing party to-day.

—Citizens' meeting at the Council Chamber to-night to arrange for Decoration day.

—James Hudson, now of Edgerton, took time enough to shake hands with his old friends in this city.

—Samuel J. Boynton, of La Prairie, complains that a travelling map peddler assaulted him in his field yesterday, and now has an officer after that peddler.

—William Hodge favors us with a copy of the Glasgow Weekly Mail. In its account of the cyclone which passed through Rock county it places the damage at $100,000.

—Rev. S. C. Thomas is to take up his home again in this city, and will this week settle in his brick house on the corner south of the First Methodist church. He will be warmly welcomed back to Janesville.

—Helmstreet has placed in one of the windows of his drug store a painting by Miss Ella Cassaday, it being from nature, and representing very perfectly some corn on the stalk. It reflects great skill on the part of the amateur who painted it.

—H. F. Bliss and S. Holdrege returned from the far West this afternoon. Some of their companions remained there. Mr. Orcutt came as far as Alton, and then went to Chicago. Will Doe was left at Winona, and Leslie Treat at Worthington.

—The official orders have been issued making the Delavan Guards a part of the First Battalion, and ordering them to report to Col. Britton. The Delavan Guards will be invited to join with the other companies of the Battalion in observing Decoration day here.

—All ladies and gentlemen, who can do so, should be at the Common Council chamber this evening at 7:30 o'clock to make proper arrangements for Decoration day. Last year's observance was one worthy of the day and of the city, and this year it should be no less so.

—A postal received from Father Munich dated "On Board the Steamer Rotterdam, May 9," shows that he is fairly started on his journey. He says: "We are now starting after many delays. My best wishes to all my friends and acquaintances in and about Janesville. Farewell until we meet again. My next will be dated from the Trans-Atlantic shores."

Newly furnished, everything the best, ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 1 o'clock a.m. to-day stood at 53 degrees above, and at 7 o'clock a.m., at 55 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p.m. at 75 degrees above. Clear. The indications to-day are south and east winds, falling barometer, clear or partly cloudy weather.

EPISCOPAL CONVOCATION.

The Madison convocation of the Episcopal church parishes is to meet in this city the last week in May, and will hold its session in Trinity church. The session will open Wednesday, and the convocation will continue three days. There will be sermons, addresses, and discussions which will prove of interest, not only to the members of that denomination, but to the public generally. Some twelve or fourteen parishes will be represented.

SHEEP SHEARING.

George Cleland, of Center, must have had a big time shearing sheep. They have just finished, and have sheared one hundred breeding ewes, the most of which have lambs. The unwashed wool of this hundred weighed 1,215 pounds. Twenty-five rams, two years old and over, sheared 470 pounds, or almost 19 pounds each. The lightest fleece was 16 pounds, and the heaviest 25½ pounds. The lightest ewe was 10½ pounds, the heaviest 16½ pounds. The fleece was eight days less than one year's growth.

THE COMING COMEDY.

To-morrow evening there will be fun enough at the Opera house, and a high order of fun, too. The appearance of Robson and Crane in "Our Bachelors" ought to cause the house to be crowded to an overflow. It is one of the most delightful comedies of the day, full of wit, and as everybody knows, Robson and Crane in their special phases of fun-making are unequalled. The New York Tribune says: "The play of 'Our Bachelors,' which Mr. Stuart Robson and Mr. W. H. Crane produced last night at the Park Theatre, purports to be a four-act comedy, arranged for these humorous actors by Mr. Joseph Bradford. It contains some situations which are comic in themselves, and many others which are made comic by the peculiar drolleries of the principal personages; and the characteristics of their humor are so well understood that detailed descriptions of what is done would be quite superfluous. The house rang with loud and frequent laughter."

STREET ACCIDENTS.

As George Skinner and his little girl were riding along West Milwaukee street last evening, the horse wheeled suddenly and threw both out of the buggy. The girl was uninjured, but Mr. Skinner was badly shaken up and bruised, though no bones were broken.

This morning as two of the Tall brothers were going up East Milwaukee street with a load of lumber, Robert was thrown off by some bundles of lath rolling off. He fell between the wheel and the load, and received some bad bruises, but no bones were broken. His escape from death was a narrow one, as the wheel passed so near his head as to crush his hat. His face and one arm are badly scraped, but it is thought no serious results will follow.

COUP'S CIRCUS.

Some of the Attractions Promised to Those Who Will Crowd the Tents on Friday the 21st.

The day on which Coup's great shows are to appear in Janesville, Friday, May 21, will cause a big rush of sight-seers. The bill boards have been scanned with eagerness, and the curiosity of the public has been excited greatly to see the reality of that which they have looked upon as pictured. The reputation which Coup has earned is so far extended that his name is enough of a guarantee that the shows which he has grouped into one great combination, will give the public an entertainment which will meet the large promises made.

In 1870 Coup organized the Barnum show, on a gigantic scale, requiring 350 horses to transport it by wagon throughout the country. In 1872 he doubled the size and used sixty railroad cars to carry the show. He then started the great Hippodrome in New York, and created with it a great sensation. Two years ago he started the Equestrianism, which was strikingly novel and attracted immense crowds, and this year he has united eleven shows in one, which is far superior even to any and all its predecessors. It is crowded with novelties and wonders.

The Japanese gymnasts and athletes, forming a circus of themselves, and including wonderful performances, such as have not been seen in this country before, prove a striking attraction.

The Broncho horses are the most wonderful and most thoroughly trained drove of horses ever seen. The Scientific American gives a lengthy and interesting account of these wonderful horses and their performances. They march and counter march, perform difficult military evolutions, they pass a handkerchief from one to the other, each one responds to his name, they balance or teeter, roll barrels up and down an inclined plane, fire off guns, jump through hoops of fire, and other feats too numerous to mention, and too wonderful to be believed, except when seen.

Among the many rare and curious monsters of the deep which Coup has is one of the far-famed devil fishes, having a length of over 39 feet. The Hell Benders will also attract much attention, as they are among the strangest freaks of nature. Trained sea lions are also a wonderful novelty.

In the museum is to be found the traitor's gall, which once closed the portals of the south wall of the tower of London, through which prisoners passed for execution.

Prof. Fryer has some educated dogs which are so well trained as to hold a court, try and execute one of their number, and go through other mock performances, which seem quite impossible.

An Indian show is among the attractive and novel features. War dances, and all the scenes of the chase and the camp are presented in a most vivid manner.

Prof. Reichel's flying machine will also create a sensation as it works to perfection, and is among the wonder of wonders.

The chorus of fifty voices, the jubilee singers, the performing lions, the trained hyenas, the Japanese art gallery, the wonderful pony circus, the curiosities in the menagerie, and hundreds and thousands of attractions cluster about the arena show which of itself is simply marvelous. As a mammoth enterprise it contains so much that a mere running mention of a portion of its novel and amazing features cannot but cause the public to throng the tents.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

They Sometimes Get Good Men into Trouble—Securing Revival of the Old Swindle—Look Before You Sign.

Mr. C. E. Winegar, of Clinton, was surprised the other day to receive a notice from one of the Janesville banks that a note signed by him was in their hands for collection, the amount being about $150. Winegar knew of no such note, and at once concluded it was either a forgery, or that there was some crookedness about it. Last fall a man came to his place soliciting orders for groceries, and offering very low prices. Winegar signed an order for about $15 worth, and has not seen or heard from the man, or the ordered groceries, since that time, but he now has reason to believe that the order which he signed has by some means been forged into a note, or else his signature has been forged to a note. The note was bought by honest men near Watertown, who discounted it at the bank there, and it was then sent down here for collection. It looks as though the grocery dodge was simply the old game of getting a signature to a note instead of a order.

W. H. Stark, of Shopshire has had a like experience with the same party. He signed an order for groceries and now comes a notice that there is a $150 note outstanding against him, which he has no knowledge of giving, and which he believes to be wholly crooked. This note has also been sold, and is in the hands of innocent parties.

It is almost needless to warn people about signing orders for anything where the parties are strangers. It seems as if the order game was almost as nearly worn out as the three card monte, but still fellows keep at work at it.

ANOTHER ENTERPRISE.

Organization of Another Manufacturing Company to be Located in Janesville.

The Single Center Spring Carriage Company, of Janesville, is the name of a Company which has been organized here for the purpose of doing a general carriage business, manufacturing buggies, etc., and especially for the purpose of manufacturing and selling the Wills and Chapman's patent springs. The capital stock of the new company is placed at ten thousand dollars and the incorporators are, S. C. Cobb, T. T. Croft, G. M. Hanchett, A. H. Sheldon, and W. W. Wills. Mr. Cobb is acting now as President and T. T. Croft as Secretary. Mr. Hanchett is now East, and is purchasing material preliminary to opening the business. The manufacturing is to be done at present in Adam Wilson's shop, and it is expected that the enterprise will be pushed actively, and a large business developed.

SUDDEN DEATH.

A Tailor in Sonneborn's Shop Lays His Head on the Table, Drops Asleep, and Will Never Awaken—Too Much Morphine.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, as the men in Sonneborn's tailor shop returned from their dinner, they found one of their number, sitting in his chair as though asleep, with his head resting on the work table in front of him. He had been on a spree yesterday, and had fallen asleep as the men went away to dinner, and at first sight they thought nothing strange at finding him in the same condition on their return, but on noticing him more closely, they saw he looked strange, and feeling his hand found it was cold, and that the man was dead.

He was a comparative stranger in the city, having come here only last week. He applied to Sonneborn Bros. for employment, and on Thursday morning they set him at work in their shop. He gave his name as Henry M. Mitchell, and said that he came from Rockford. He represented his age as being thirty-three, though he looked a few years older. He worked well until Saturday night, and as he was short of money, the foreman gave him $5 to square up his board at Mrs. Curtis, the regular pay day of the firm being Monday. Some of this money he evidently used for drink, but still he was able to work on Monday.

On the evening of that day he borrowed two shillings, his money evidently having been all spent. Yesterday morning he came to the shop, but was too intoxicated to work. He wanted to borrow another dollar, but this was refused him on account of his condition. This morning he did not appear at the usual hour, and the foreman went to Mrs. Curtis' and finding him asleep, awoke him, and got him to work at about 9 o'clock, he having sobered up sufficiently for business. He kept at work until about 11 o'clock this forenoon, when he arose from his chair, and going to one corner of the room, he vomited some in an ash pan, and coming back to the table sat down and rested his head on his hands as though feeling badly. Soon after he dropped into a dose, and was thus sleeping when the men left for dinner, they thinking little of it beyond the fact that he was sleeping off the effects of his dissipation. On their return they found him dead as described.

Justice Nolan proceeded to hold an inquest this afternoon, the jury consisting of G. W. Wheeler, Nelson Cole, S. A. Pond, J. W. Carpenter, A. D. Sanborn, and A. P. Burrus. By witnesses additional facts were brought out showing that the deceased was in the habit of taking morphine, and in the opinion of Dr. Loomis, he had died from an overdose, but whether taken purposely with suicidal intentions or not, was not evident. Three days ago he bought sixteen grains of morphine at Eldridge's drug store, and on being questioned there and then, said he was in the habit of taking it to give him sleep. Last evening he bought sixteen grains more, and though the paper was all gone, except such as would naturally remain in the creases, as he was in the habit of taking it, and knew its effect, it seems not improbable that being tired of life, he had concluded to sleep himself into an easy death. The only additional paper found on his person was a grocery bill dated at some place in Michigan some year or more ago.

To Rent.

A house known as the Strasberger house, on Franklin street. Possession given immediately. Inquire of E. E. Murdoch, at Corn Exchange.

I SMITH WITHDRAWS.

Ed Smith, who has been one of the prominent candidates named for City Marshal, informs us that he has concluded to withdraw from the contest, and that he will not under any circumstances, accept the office, even if it should be tendered him. He not only makes the withdrawal thus positive and final, but he has made arrangements to continue in his position as night watchman on the West Side, and Summer Herrick, who has been serving also as night watchman, withdraws from the post, and leaves the whole business in Ed Smith's hands. By this arrangement the business men will retain Smith to guard their property, and the contest for City Marshal has one less candidate. Smith is an efficient officer, and his best will will be well covered. When the late Marshal was taken sick, Smith was called upon to fill the duties of the office and he will doubtless continue to act as City Marshal until one is chosen by the Council.

MISS PORTER'S RECITAL.

There was a fair sized audience at Laspul's Music hall last evening, at the musical recital given by Miss Helen R. Porter and her pupils. The programme was composed of seventeen numbers, but proved a little tame to many in the audience, who tired of so much music, even though good, and who sighed for some change. Those however, who had relatives or friends among the participants, watched eagerly each part of the programme, and it was evident to all that Miss Porter is doing some excellent work, and that her pupils are making advancement under her instruction. As an entertainment to the ordinary attendant it proved only fair, but to friends it was a happy showing of the ability of the teacher and the progress of her pupils. The numbers brought out besides Miss Porter, Miss Julie Moore, Miss Hattie Fifield, Miss Flossie De Long, Miss Lulu Palmer, Miss Stella Palmer, Miss Nettie Gilmore, Miss Sophy Humphrey, Miss Silasie, Miss Leech, Miss Knoff, Miss Nellie Campbell, and George Kimball.

BLOWN TO PIECES.

Two Janesville Men Killed by a Terrible Explosion, at Deadwood, D. T., Yesterday.

The following dispatch was sent over the wires by the Associated Press last evening, concerning a terrible explosion at Deadwood, D. T. Two of the victims are said to be from this city:

DEADWOOD, D. T., May 11.—An explosion of five boxes, nearly one hundred pounds, of gun powder, occurred at the blacksmith shop of the High Lode mine, at Central City, this morning, instantly killing Samuel Kimble, foreman of the mine, and Joseph Trudell and Jonas Gilmore, employees. The bodies were most fearfully torn to pieces. The country, for an area of a mile square, was strewn with small fragments of flesh and the ruins of the shop. Kimble and Gilmore hail from Janesville, Wis.
